foreword

The EL PORTAL is the year 1966–67 for Point Loma High School. The pages represent that which has occurred on our campus and those activities in which our student body has participated. Take a good look at the many faces. Notice the smiles, the laughs, the sincerity, the ambitions, the hopes, the successes which are reflected on these pages.

You may forget many years of your life, but I promise you will never forget your high school days. There are going to be many occasions when you will use the pages of your 1967 EL PORTAL to recall persons or events. Your memories will be good ones because you have been a part of a wonderful experience!

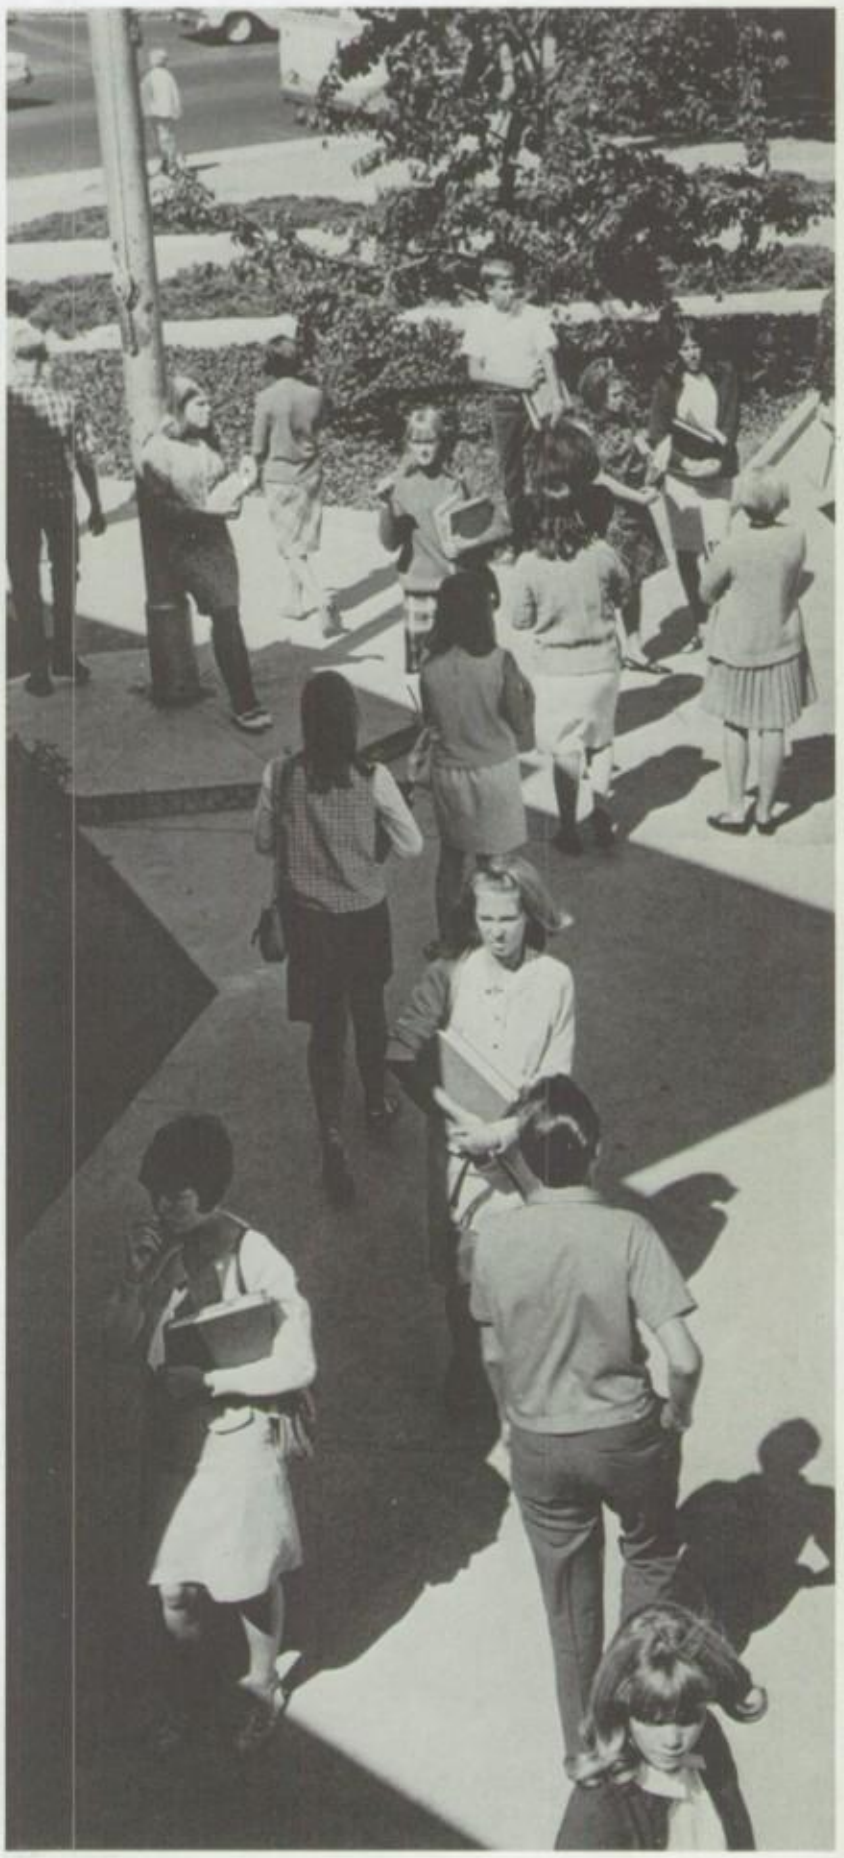
POINT LO

point loma is action —



Energetic students, meeting each challenging school day, are brought together in the 1967 EL PORTAL. The following pages of activities, as well as studies, tell the story of Point Loma students in action. Stimulated students have led their opponents in sports and academic contests. Eight National Merit Scholarship semi-finalists, a C I F contending football team, and continued alertness to world affairs and the latest trends are but a few of the distinctions achieved by Lomans. Under pressure, following tight schedules, and meeting deadlines, the students have kept up with the vigorous pace of the year. Snap, wit, and spirit have made them the fighting Pointers of 1967.

homecoming 1966

Spirited fans spurred the Pointer team to a 30–0 victory over the Buccaneers. The game ended the afternoon festivities, but not Homecoming altogether. From eight until eleven that night, Lomans and their dates celebrated the game win at the senior sponsored "Comic Strip Capers" in the girls' gym.

Cartoon characters, covering the walls, decorated the annual dressy sport dance. Committees made large comic strips of Grog, Andy Capp, B.C., and the Wizard of Id to delight couples. General co–chairmen Janice Moran and Lynn Rippee were responsible for all arrangements. The Innocents entertained the Homecoming crowd for the second straight year, attracting students from all classes. A great success, the senior dance climaxed the Homecoming activities and boosted the class treasury.

A crowd of alumni and current pepsters led Loman cheers at the Point Loma vs. Mission Bay Home–coming game, October 28, 1966. Dressed in costumes for the "Comic Strip Carnival," this year's song and cheer leaders actively parti–cipated in the event. Exhausted from float–stuffing nights, other spirited Pointers wheeled their floats "Bugs Bunny," "Pebbles," and five other cartoon figures past the bleachers of game fans. High–lighting pregame happenings, Sue Funk was crowned queen. She reigned with her attendants Ellen Flentye, Pam Blankenship, Junior, Lindy Mann, and Sophomore, Debbie Seaton.

Members of public speaking classes developed valuable techniques for persuasive and informative speech, debates, and discussions. Preparing for tournaments and city–wide competion, the students were taught poise and effective methods of oral communication.

Particular work this year included hosting the problem solving discussion conference of the San Diego City Schools Speech Arts League on Saturday, October 29. Participants from Point Loma and several other high schools discussed the foreign aid policy of the United States. Speakers were rewarded for outstanding organization and presentation.

Paris loves lovers.

The first major production of the year was the musical comedy "Silk Stockings." The story, based on the book by George S. Kaufman, involved a female emissary, Ninotchka (Dana Swanson), who is sent to Paris by the Soviet Commissar of Art to check up on three Russian agents, Ivanov (Miles Berger), Brankov (Ken Harris), and Bibinsky (Chris Schatz). The agents were assigned to get the Russian composer, Boroff (David Garcia), to return to the U.S.S.R., but Boroff had been persuaded to stay in Paris by his American manager, Steve Canfield (Dave Rodger). Ninotchka not only failed her assignment, but fell in love with the American.

"The World of Carl Sandburg" was presented to Point Loma students and the community March 9 and 10 in the auditorium. Linda Baker, Judy Bean, Ken Harris, and Mark Neiderman presented Sandburg's works in a unique readers' theatre directed by Mr. Gayle Todd. Poems and jokes in the beginning of the program emphasized Sandburgs' interest in children and love. Mark Neiderman sang songs from Sandburg's "The Songbag." In the second part of the production, the commentators read various works, including passages from the final pages of "The Prairie Years," a biography of Lincoln. The program was repeated March 15 by popular request.

One of the high points was the selection on love.

Beginning drama students spent a semester of their drama instruction in stagecraft. Meeting each day, the class learned the fundamentals of stage design and prop construc–tion. Students then designed and built sets for Point Loma's major productions, plays, and assemblies. Their work involved painting car–pentry, sewing, and arranging of props for every set. An off–stage room served as a workshop and was equipped with electric tools for the students' use. Directed by Mr. Todd, stagecraft was a vital part of the drama and speech departments.

The annual semi–formal ball was heid at the Com–munity Concourse on December 9. It was an exciting event, as plan–ned by General Chairman Karen Cooper, with all the glamour of Broadway.

Bill Gable and Lynn Rippee were voted king and queen by couples at the dance. They were chosen from six senior candidates to reign over the ball.

Studying early forms of music, Madrigals were the most advanced and unique singing group at Point Loma. On campus, Madrigals pre–sented "Scenes from the Theater" and participated in the annual Christmas Assembly. Their voices were featured in a television spe–cial, "Christmas in San Diego," and in a program at the San Diego Art Gallery. The group prepared Han–del's SEMELE for an oratorial in May, attended the Lakewood Mad–rigal Festival, and participated in choral workshops.

At the end of the year, the beautiful voices of Point Loma's most advanced choir joined in singing at the Vespers ceremonies of the graduating senior class.

Loman girls were trained to sing and harmonize in the Girls' Chorus. A beginning choral class, Girls' Chorus gave interested students an opportunity to display their singing talents. Under the direction of Mr. Lewis Phelps, the chorus performed at the annual Christmas program. The girls practiced songs daily, learned to read music, and studied theory and the history of music. Because activities were limited for beginning chorus, most members planned to be active in more advanced groups in succeeding semesters.

After the football season, the marching band became Point Loma's concert band. Members played at the annual Christmas assembly, at PTA meetings, and for drama productions. In March, the band performed concerts for Collier and Dana Junior High Schools and competed in a band festival at Clairemont High School. The band later presented an evening band concert in the Point Loma auditorium and the annual spring concert at a student assembly. In its last performance of the year, the Point Loma band provided music for commencement exercises.

During the fall, the Pointer band performed at several home football games, including the CIF game against Oceanside at Balboa Stadium. Band members met at seven many mornings to practice and perfect their entertaining half–time routines. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Minnich, the marching band also represented Point Loma in the Old Town Christmas Parade. Parades and half–time performances required both musical perfection and marching precision.

Eighteen members of the year–book staff worked hard to create a totally new look for the 1966–1967 EL PORTAL. Designing eight colored introduction pages, interest–ing layouts, and a unique hard–bound cover, the EL PORTAL staff produced an attractive annual that captured Point Loma in action. Their work on the book included scheduling pictures, planning pages, and operating the varitype machine, which was used for the first time to set copy and captions for the annual.

Meeting several times during the summer with Mr. Schaffroth and co–editors–in–chief, Lynn Hochmuth and Eleanor Burnett, the staff began work on the theme and design of the 1967 yearbook. In September the EL PORTAL editors attended a yearbook seminar at USD to study professional ways of creating a unique and attractive book. The staff worked up through the last minutes before every deadline to finish sections of the annual. When completed, the 1967 EL PORTAL was submitted for evaluation to the National Scholastic Yearbook Association at UCLA.

Current campus news, editorials, cartoons, sports, and features on school life, teachers, and seniors were published in THE POINTER every other week for all Lomans. The POINTER staff of reporters and editors worked hours throughout the year to meet deadlines for every issue. Special effort was made to publish the paper's CIF victory edition and the giant senior issue for June. In March, editor-in-chief Barbara Heryet and staff entered THE POINTER in competition at the annual Journalism Pow-Wow held at State College.

Any coach knows that the spirit of the spectators has a great influence on the morale of the players, and so those in charge of boosting the spirit, the song and cheerleaders, have as much to do with the winning of games as the players themselves. Undoubtedly this year's pepsters are among the best P.L. has yet seen. The cheering was lead by John Spafford, Fernando Suarez, Anita Jeffers, and Kay Howe, and the songs were directed by Marci Hudson, Nat Craig, Nicki Reimenschnider, and Linda Aschberner. Not to forget Tom "always in great spirits" Cosgrove's excellent assistance as Pointer Dog. All-in-all, they achieved what every song and cheerleader strives for-spirits unlimited.

Leading the cheers were Jo Wegeforth, Margy Newman, and Wendy Shure, with Carol Cleator, Dottie Jason, and Melody Bossard directing the songs. No J.V. game could have been complete without their thrill inspiring efforts.

Point Loma's excellent showing in the 1966 football season can be attributed to the efforts of four men. Head by Coach Ben Edens, Coaches Kermeen Fristrom, coaching the defense and line, Bill Hall, directing the "Dogs" and the defensive backs, and Hugh Simpson, the JV and assistant line coach, were able to come up with consistantly outstanding strategy. They were the impetus behind the players, supplying them with both the psychological and tactical necessities for a championship team.

In the first game of the season Point Loma easily trounced the Cougars of Escondido. From the opening kick–off, returned 76 yards by Glenn Killingbeck, P.L. was in charge. On the first play from scrimmage, Bill Gable ran the ball over from the 4 for a T.D. The Pointer offense which went on to score a touchdown every quarter, was equaled only by the hard–hitting defense, whose aggressive spirit held a usually strong Escondido team scoreless. All 4 PATs were added with ease by place–kicker Rod Connors.

Outstanding players: Bill Alexander

morse

The defensive team was truly the dominating factor in P. L.'s win over the Morse Tigers. Sparked by defensive captain, Bill Alexander, the advancing Tigers were held 3 times within the Pointer 10 yard–line. On a later series of downs, the unstoppable defense managed to push Morse back 41 yards in 3 successive plays. The offensive team which also showed excellent style, was lead by Bill Gable, who scored the first of P. L.'s 2 touchdowns. The second was carried over by Tom Rosenthal from the 6 yard–line, putting Point Loma out in front to stay.

Outstanding players: Bill Gable, Glenn Killingbeck, Rick Leb–herz

Point Loma's third game proved an easy victory over the Crawford Colts. P. L.'s first score was a 3 yard plunge made in the second quarter by Tom Rosenthal, culminating an 80 yard drive. Then Glenn Killingbeck made the play of the game as he intercepted a Crawford pass on his own 27 yard–line and ran 73 yards for the winning T.D. The team thus proved to be superior in pre–league play after compiling a perfect record of 3 wins, no losses.

John Cervinsky added the fourth score from 6 yards out, with reserve half–backs Charles Nutting and Mark Murphy following with a T.D. apiece, Murphy on a 50 yard run, and Nutting on a 25 yard run.

The offense, despite being hampered by penalties, scored on runs of 4 and 2 yards by John Cervinsky and a seven yard effort by Sheldon Feike. Point Loma's undefeated Pointers assured themselves of a tie for the Western League Championship as they blanked the Chieftans of Clairmont. Quarterback Bill Gable scored the first T.D. with a run from 6 yards out, followed by Point Loma's second and final touchdown scored on a 5 yard, John Cervinsky run. However, this excellent showing could not have been possible without the undaunted spirit afforded the team by the superb defensive unit.

lessons from loss

la jolla

Point Loma faced its first defeat of the season when it played the La Jolla Vikings to a hard–fought loss. Throughout the game the offense was plagued by damaging penalties, interceptions, and fumbles. Never–theless, John Cervinsky and Gary Malone managed to score on runs of four and twenty–two yards, respec–tively. Gary continued his excel–lent performance as he completed a pass to Glenn Killingbeck, who then trotted twenty–eight yards for a Loman TD. Despite the disap–pointing outcome, the game had real value in that it showed the gridders where their worst faults were, in time to rectify them before the CIF playoff.

Point Loma cinched the city championship when it defeated the Morse Tigers for the second time in the season. All three Loman Touchdowns were carried over by Fullback John Cervinsky, undoubtedly the most valuable player in the game. The first scoring was accomplished after a 67 yard drive with John going over from three yards out. Then in the third period after Phil Silva's great pass interception, he trotted over from the 18. He finished the scoring when he rounded left end and soared over on a six yard run.

The mighty Pointers assured themselves of a place in the CIF Finals when they rolled over the Oceanside Pirates. In every category Point Loma was clearly out in front. The first score was made by halfback Tom Rosenthal, capitalizing on a 69 yard drive. The next was put over by Junior Jack Chambers from the one yard-line. However the play of the game was made by QB Joe Radovich who scored from 66 yards out on his first play on the varsity squad. The final blow was delivered by Mark Murphy from the four yard line.

After game enthusiasm runs high

Would you believe ... the 1966–67 CIF Football Champions?

Helix High's fabled "green machine" was finally downed by the fantastic Pointer pigskinners in the excitement filled CIF finals. The going seemed easy for the PL offense during the first three quarters with Sheldon Feike dashing 64 yards during the first period for the first six points. Then another score was racked up by Bill Gable in the third quarter, as he raced over from the seven, thus leaving Point Loma with a 12–0 lead going into the fourth period. Then things began to look bad. With less than five minutes left to play in the 1966 season, the Highlanders charged out two T.D.s in two minutes! Finally gaining control, the Pointers began the most important drive of the game. It started on the PL 34 with Cervinsky leading the plunge to the Helix 15. Then the Lomans used their least perfected tool, the pass, to make the last score of the year. Q.B. Bill Gable rolled out and found Tom Rosenthal in the clear. He threw and Tom brought it down, then outran a Helix defender to the goal line. Thus the score was left at 18–14 with only 72 seconds left to play.

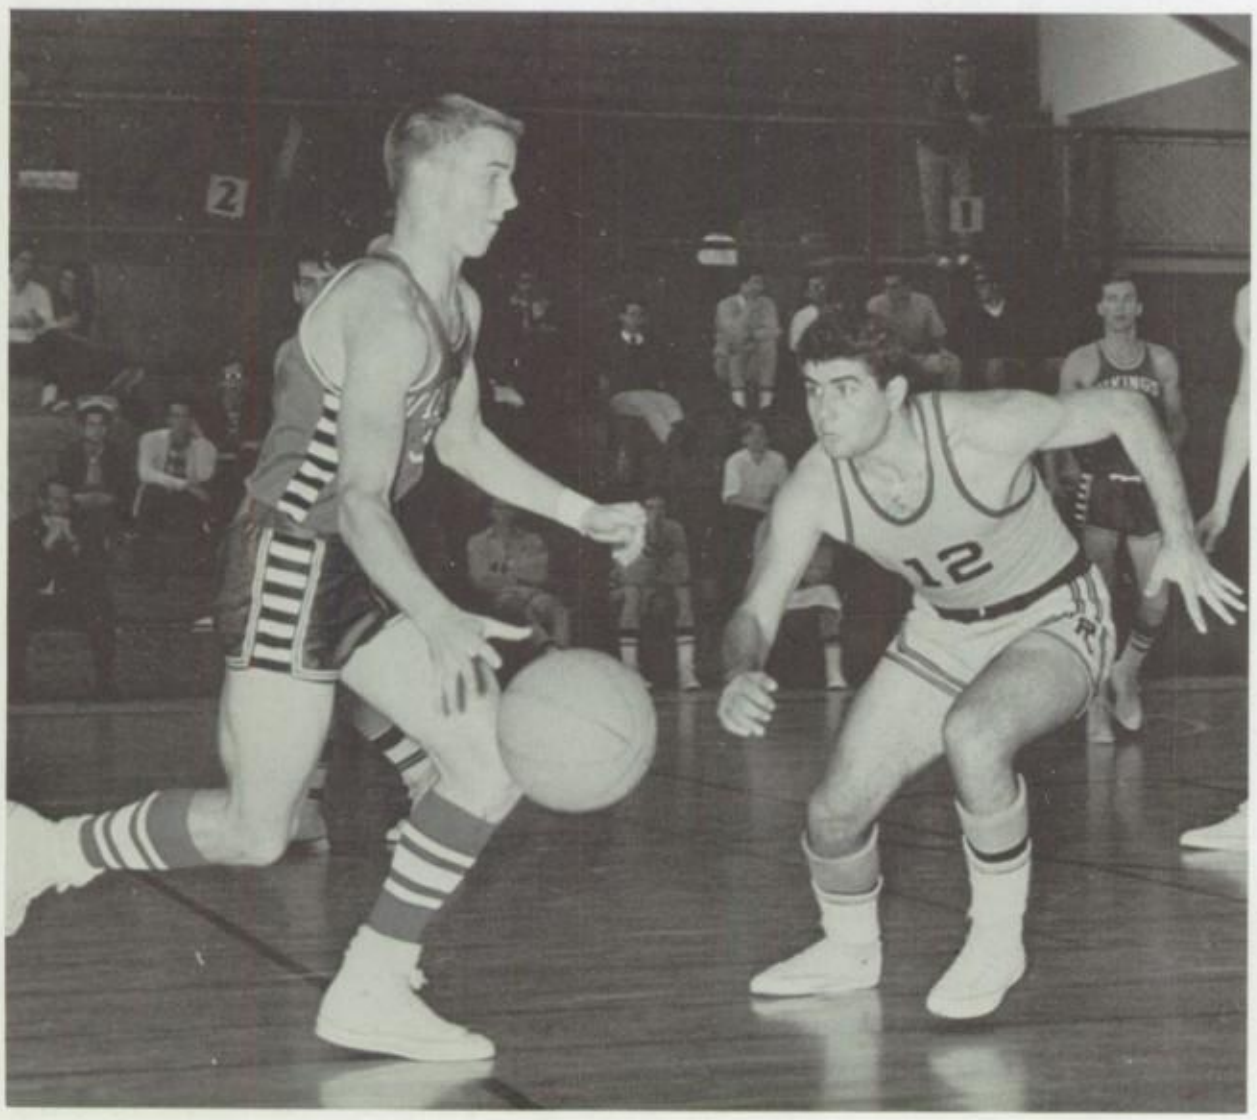
varsity basketball



John in defense against La Jolla.

Working against overwhelming odds, this years Varsity Basketball team failed to make much of a showing in league standings. There were many factors responsible for this. Poor referees and penalities were among the least important causes, but a general lack of spirit, both on the team and from the students can be said to be the greatest. Nevertheless, individual players managed to do well. Phil Northcraft scored the most points in one game (30 against Clairemont) and also the most field goals (14 in the same game). The Co-Captains were Jon Chapman and Todd Stress. The "Best Team Player" (for lack of a most valuable player) was John Urner. The most improved was Charlie Garten, who will be a great boost to next year's "winning" team.

Jim Fuller did an excellent job of holding down third base, which made an almost air–tight infield. Pitching was Point Loma's strongest area. There are many of us who know how to swim, but few that have reached the ability and speed attained by the P.L. aquamen. To be a good swimmer it takes courage, endurance, grace, and talent. This is evident in such swimmers as Mike Smith, Don Davis, and Dennis Fisher--such divers as Mark Neiderman and Jim Oberg--and JV standouts like Jim Loomer, Mike Ober, Jerry Jessop, and Chris Dattan. But this is not all it takes. Also necessary is a person who is qualified enough to instruct the participants as to their strengths and weaknesses. Coach Schaffroth is such a person. tennis triumphs

Coach George Rion

This year's Varsity Tennis team, although starting out poorly, still did well in the final Western League standings. This can be attributed to two things. First the outstanding factors of talented players such as David Smollar, Jeff Hamburg, and Mike Stotsky. Secondly, the excellent physical condition of the players caused largely by Coach Rion's recent calesthentic program. Although hampered by a lack of experience, the netters managed to defeat many of their adversaries and ended up second in the Western League standings.

dart directs commission

Directing the first semester commission, Dave Dart was respon–sible for active student government. Activities began with the sale of more than thirteen hundred ASB cards. Dave then led the Point Loma delegation to SDASC (San Diego Associated Student Councils) at La Jolla in November.

As Commissioner of General Affairs, he presided over student government classes and formal com–mission meetings. He directed work on the bookstore and the ASB Ball in December and organized the class exchange with Morse High School, January 10, 1967.

Elected in January, George Lazar successfully led the spring commission and organized the ASB activities for the second semester. He promoted interest in student government and initiated revision of the ASB constitution. The commission worked to incorporate some offices, establish year long offices, and provide greater activity for homeroom representatives. Under Lazar, the commission also considered the possibilities of a new ASB room.

commission in motion: attends sdasc conference

Active commissioners of the Associated Student Body promoted student government at Point Loma. Working with the school administration, the ASB officers expressed the needs and interests of the student body and helped to plan new projects and activities.

The commission met informally Monday and Wednesday mornings, at 7:15, with the student government class. At formal commission meetings, held every two weeks, the officers and homeroom representatives discussed and voted on commission plans.

Student officers were elected each semester by Point Loma's registered voters. Each commissioner had special charge over a division of student body activity.

Loman officers discuss plans at Commission meeting.

Two volunteers were appointed each semester to serve as ASB Clerk and ASB Scribe. The Clerk prepared on agenda for every com–mission meeting, took minutes at the meeting, and mimeographed co–pies for all homerooms. She also recorded the attendance of home–room representatives and filed ammendments and by–laws to the constitution. A valuable worker in student government, the Scribe recorded class discussions and handled most of the inter–school correspondence. Both kept the student body and faculty informed of commission activities.

The Commissioner of Publica–tions and other volunteers organized the ASB Book Store again this year. The book store was opened during both lunches to sell paperback books and college guides to Point Loma students.

student government springs to action: adopts coat of arms

Point Loma's student government class encouraged all students to participate in school government. At 7:15 A.M., both Mondays and Wednesdays, interested students met informally with the ASB commission, the ASB advisor, Mr. Corbin, and other student officers. They discussed school affairs, expressed their opinions, and proposed projects and solutions to school problems. The class did not have the power to decide or vote upon commission plans. However, student government could influence action. This year's class initiated such plans as a Point Loma CIF banner and the class exchange with Morse High on January 10, 1967.

Student government sponsored a delegation to SDASC (San Diego Associated Student Councils) in November. Several active students who did not hold offices were selected to attend the conference. Other active members of student government represented Point Loma on TV 8 Dancetime in April.

The Sophomore Orientation Tea, on September 8, initiated an active semester planned for Girls' League. The Tea introduced incoming Sophomore girls to their big sisters of the junior and senior classes, and to the League, a service organization for all Point Loma girls.

Serving as president, Activities commissioner Nanci Kirtland organized the club's first semester activities and bi-weekly meetings. "Let's Lick Kearny," October 21, was the League's annual sucker sale, held to raise money and boost school spirit for the football game that night. Girls also, worked to build and enter the League's float, "Snoopy," in Point Loma's Homecoming parade, October 28.

A candy cane sale for Christmas and a fashion show were planned for December. The annual fashion show was presented December 9, in the boys' gym. It highlighted current styles from Gutheries.

The active Girls' League was led the second semester by the spring Commissioner of Girls' Activities, Jeri Rehm. Under her leadership, the league officers planned and organized spring activities for Point Loma girls. A valentine sale, a bakesale, and the annual Girls' League Dance were among the second semester events. The annual girl–ask–boy dance was held April 17, in the boys' gym. The money made on the dance went towards a scholarship awarded yearly by Girls' League to an active senior girl.

One representative from each grade level assisted Girls' League officers with league activities. During the second semester, officers and representatives continued to select the Girl of the Fortnight, and also organized the Mother–Daughter Tea for the end of the year.

Sixteen of Point Loma's most active senior girls were chosen by Girls' League officers to be Girls of the Fortnight. The honor gave deserved recognition to girls who unselfishly worked on high school projects and committees throughout their years of attendance at Point Loma. Selected for the quantity and quality of their service, the girls held ASB, class, and Girls' League offices, or served as appointed officers of committee chairmen.

Honored at Girls' League meetings, each girl was presented a corsage and the traditional Girl of the Fortnight pin, which she wore for two weeks. Her picture and short write-up of school activities were posted in the main hall.

Boy's Federation officers continued this year to select and honor outstanding senior boys with the Hi–Loman award. For the third year, this award gave deserved recognition to boys who contributed their time and effort to class, ASB, and Boys' Federation projects. A new Hi–Loman was announced every three weeks. His picture and an article about his activities and plans were posted in the main hall. The Hi–Loman award stimulated Point Loma boys to actively work in student government and the Boys' Federation throughout their three years in high school.

Commissioner of Boys' Activities, Dave Gollaher, served as first semester president of the Boys' Federation. Under his leadership, the federation continued its traditional services at Point Loma, sponsoring the safety and clean campus drives. Officers organized the advisory board that honored outstanding senior boys as Hi–Loman, throughout the first semester. Work was started on a fund–raising project for the federation. A full–length movie was planned for the second semester. Directing the second semester Federation activities, Charlie Nutting continued the Hi–Loman distinction for senior boys and organized the senior–faculty basketball game.

AFS finalists—Carol MacLaggan and Jack Chambers.

Mary Richardson—Summer AFS exchange student to England.

English castles and haunted houses interested Point Loma's foreign exchange student, Mary Richardson, but nothing impressed her more than her English family.

"The bus trip to London from Newcastle took ten long hours and I nervously awaited the moment when I would meet my 'family.' When I stepped off the bus in the morning, I was immediately made one of the family and exchanged a welcome hug with each member. Naturally I was as curious to learn about England as they were the United States, but the learning process was a bit subtle and the knowledge gained was deep because we learned simply by living with each other. By the end of my stay, I had truly gained a second family. Now at home, I know the friendships and impressions I made will be lasting. The understanding of others and appreciation for what I have, both gained through my AFS experience, can never be measured."

Des anticipates conversation with his parents at AFS dinner.

Point Loma was fortunate this year to host two AFS exchange students. Throughout the year both students formed lasting impressions of their high school and life in the United States.

Staying this year with the Cheverton family, Swedish exchange student, Ewa Tollmar, was most impressed by school spirit. "I guess I enjoyed the football season the best. CIF—wow! When I am finally home I'll yell all the cheers from 'my' high school. If I didn't believe in school spirit before, I do now. Pointers have it everywhere and everytime."

Living with the Shaffer family, Austrailian exchange student Des Herreen was impressed by one fact: "the average Austrailian is not very much different than the average American. The ways of life 'on top' and 'down under' are similar in many respects. I believe in the AFS motto, when the people of the world 'walk and talk together' we can really have peace."

Various exchange programs brought three students to Point Loma from Sweden, Finland, and Chile. Staying with the Nielson family, Swedish exchange student Tom Dreijer noted big differences between Swedish schools and Point Loma. "One of the biggest differences here are the school organizations, which like school sports, rarely exist in Sweden. There is no school spirit either, which I have especially enjoyed here at the football games." Cay Sevon, from Finland, spent a year with the Waverala family. "You don't have the same equality between the sexes as we have. We Scandinavians divide the expenses of a date, fifty–fifty." Living with the Greenspan family, Victor Handler, from Chile, noted the kindness of North Americans. "The students and teachers at Point Loma and other people in San Diego have treated me with kindness and respect.

The ASB Social Committee met once each semester to determine dates for club bakesales. Meeting with representatives from various clubs, the fifteen committee members decided which clubs needed bakesales and arranged for smaller clubs to hold bakesales together.

During lunch periods and after school, members of the ASB Ticket Committee sold tickets at the financial office for football and basketball games. The twenty volunteer members were also responsible for selling and collecting tickets at home basketball games.

Wednesday and Thursday afternoons gave Point Loma's Pep Committee enough time to create and paint the colorful banners Lomans saw each Friday of the football season. Posters, which mounted the school's archway and decorated Point Loma's section of fences at the games, as well as the football field, were a successful means to promote school spirit. Pointer fans went wild when the team ripped through the pepsters' signs at the start of each half.

As many as six banners were painted a week, some up to forty feet in length. One of the longest was painted at the end of the season. This sign congratulated Point Loma's football champions when they were honored at the Point Loma Inn. One of the most active committees during the football season, the Pep Committee urged Loman support at football games and spurred the team to a CIF victory.

Austrailia isn't seven eighths Kangaroo, nor do all Swedes eat pickled herring. Foreign exchange students, Des Herreen and Eva Tollmar were able to explain this to Point Loma students. By spon-- soring exchange programs, the American Field Service served to correct the misconceptions different people have of one another. Over a hundred Lomans appreciated the services of this organization and worked hard on AFS projects to finance students for the next sum-- mer and winter programs. The club held a fashion show in September, sold football concessions, had a bakesale, and held the annual AFS International Dinner.

booster club urges teams to victory

Some games get very tense.

And some games are sure wins.

A booster button is sheer happiness.

The fighting Pointer teams were supported at games again this year by the active Booster Club. Organized in September, the club reserved the best seats at football and basketball games for hundreds of Lomans who bought booster club buttons. The section of students with gold sweatshirts, blouses, shirts, and sweaters distinguished the club at games. The mass of gold and the vigorous booster cheers inspired Pointer teams to fight and showed tremendous Point Loma spirit.

Sausages fascinated members of Point Loma's Deutscher Klub when they visited an old German butcher shop. The field trip was just one of the club's activities planned to teach members about German culture, the people, and the language. The Klub's bakesale during the first semester was another unique project. Homemade German sweets were sold to the music of a Point Loma German Band. The money from the bakesale helped treat club members and guests to a dinner party at a local German restaurant.

chess club learns checkmate

Paul Hanson strategically plans a checkmate.

The Chess club was reorganized at Point Loma after several inactive years. Fourteen students, who wanted to learn chess or improve the quality of their game, met every Thursday after school. Round–robin intramural tournaments began after several club sessions, determining the school champions. Champions won at least two out of three games in the playoffs. The five best players then competed in interschool chess tournaments.

They met every other Tuesday evening to socialize and plan events. In October, they concentrated on building "Margaret," this year's most original Homecoming float. The club later contributed to a food drive for Tijuana families, assisted the PTA at the Open House bake-sale, and worked at the Loma Portal School Carnival.

Every Thursday after school, Point Loma's Bowling Club met for fun and organized recreation at Frontier Lanes. In mixed trios, or teams of three, the twenty–five active members practiced bowling and participated in intramural tournaments. The club, sanctioned by the American Junior Bowling Congress, awarded trophies to out–standing teams and individuals. Boys and girls interested in learning how to bowl or improving their bowling scores were invited to the weekly meetings. Among the mem–bers were the state junior girls' singles champion, Joann Gelb, and Dennis O'Neill, who placed fourth in AJBC State competition, junior boys' doubles division.

Countesses enjoyed another active year serving the school, the community, and having fun. To begin the year, the club held its annual alumni dinner. The organization also sold football spirit ribbons and made valentines for the Sunshine School for Handicapped Children. The hard-working girls won the sweepstakes award for their Homecoming float, "Winnie the Pooh," and earned money for the club's scholarship funds through a Christmas Tea. Meeting every other Monday, Countesses planned to spend a weekend at Camp Palomar and attend a luncheon for service clubs in the spring.

Key Club devoted their time this year to performing community service. The club ushered at Open House and watered trees in the Point Loma Village. Five members served on the executive board of Peninsulans, Inc., a community planning group. The club sold concessions at the home basketball games and served refreshments at the aftergame dances. The movie shown by Key Club this year provided the $100 for a scholarship given to a deserving Loman.

Social and recreational activities were planned almost every Wednesday night for 120 members of Wai Kanes. The club, sponsored by the YMCA, was organized to promote Christian fellowship and growth. Activities included discussions on teenage and adult problems. The Y-group also listened to speakers from Alcoholics Anonymous, the Synanon House, and the Peace Corps. In December, Wai Kanes hosted speakers on skiing, had films, and organized a ski trip to Mammoth.

Visits to the Sunshine School for Handicapped Children and the Boys and Girls Aid Society were among the activities of this year's Health Careers Club. The club helped Point Loma students develop their interests in medicine and medical vocations. Members explored many of the more than sixty careers in the health field and learned about educational requirements and job opportunities. They attended a program on Zoo Medicine at the San Diego Zoo and an Open House at the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing. In April, the club toured the San Diego Health Fair held at the Community Concourse.

"Is God really dead?"

Investigating the scripture, members of the Bible Club met weekly to gain more knowledge and better understanding of the Bible. The Bible Club was an interfaith organization that studied many religions. The club invited a Catholic priest, a Presbyterian minister, and a Greek Orthodox priest to speak on the theories and practices of their churches. Members learned much about other religions by explaining the beliefs and services of their different religions. Club discussions were also centered around such topics as "Is God Dead."

Girls' Intramurals provided opportunities for all girls at Point Loma to participate in a variety of team and individual sports. After school tournaments, supervised by Miss Holman and Miss Moore, were held in volleyball, volley tennis, archery, tennis, badminton, gymnastics, and track and field. Loman girls also competed in city-wide sports days and were trained for interscholastic meets in swimming, gymnastics, tennis, volleyball, and badminton.

Intramural activities were planned and scheduled by the intramural council. Led by Ginny Gabor, Commissioner of Girls' Athletics, the council was composed of two representatives from each of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Club activities included tournaments, bakesale, and an Awards Tea honoring athletic girls.

Officers: Cettina Miceli and Barbara Hoopes.

Guest speakers and French films helped members of Point Loma's French Club learn more about the language and customs of France. Meeting every other Tuesday, the students learned poems and songs and spoke French as much as possible. At meetings, members also enjoyed playing bingo and other games in French and often saw slides of trips to France. Activities promoted interest in the language and helped students to speak French fluently. The club prepared many students for college language contests.

C.S.F. members unwind.

First Semester Officers: Barbara Gorman, Karin Teutsch, and Jan Wolff.

Loman scholars eagerly applied for membership each semester in the California Scholarship Federation. However, only top students whose semester grades credited them a minimum of ten points were accepted. Three points were counted for every A grade and one point for every B.

CSF was an active campus club this year, sponsoring a student tutoring service and providing special privileges for its members. The organization continued to raise funds through a bakesale and dues in order to give two annual scholarships to graduating seniors. Students who were members of the federation for four semesters, including one senior semester, were granted life memberships.

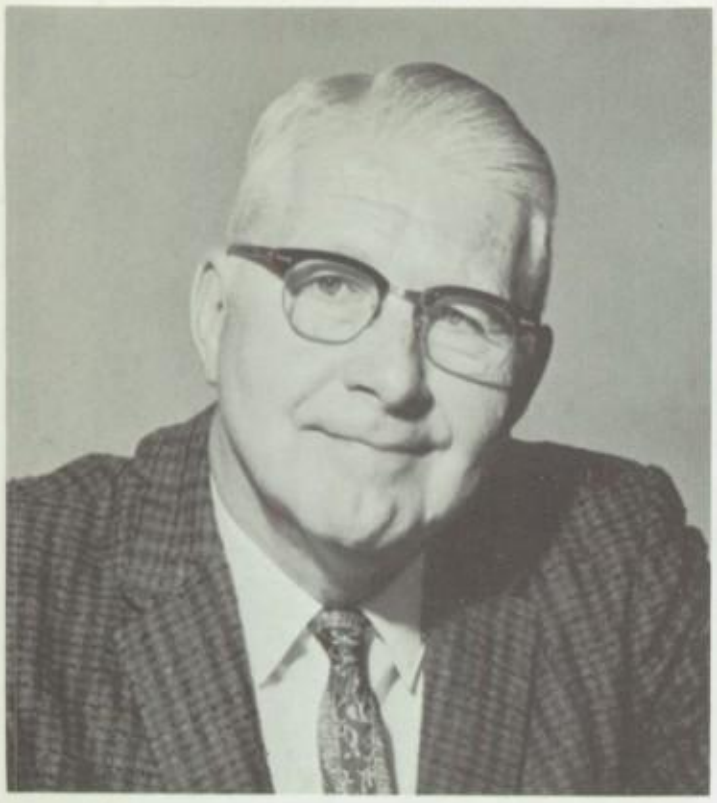
Throughout the year, Lomans could depend on Mr. Donald Gid–dings to actively serve and promote Point Loma High. He encouraged school spirit and student interest in athletics, in government, and other school activities. He helped make Point Loma reputable center of learning by selecting the most effective curriculum school staff. The success of the 1966–67 term at Point Loma was largely due to his constant service and devotion.

Mr. Giddings reflects over the day's activities along with vice–principals, Mr. Candor and Mr. Smith.



Mr. Wylie B. Candor

A team of vice–principals, six grade counselors, and two intergrade counselors supervised the curriculum and activities of Point Loma students. Vice–principal, Mr. Wylie Candor coordinated the Loman calendar of events. Mrs. Mary Hebert sponsered Girls' League, supervised counseling services and programmed incoming sophomores. Transferred to the Edu–cation Center in February, Mr. Bo Smith directed boys' activities and campus functions. His work was successfully continued the second semester by Mr. Warren Barritt.

The MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT provided courses and activities for math–minded Lomans. It continued the advanced sport programs and offered courses in algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and calculus, a junior college course, with college credits. Throughout the year, the department prepared and sponsored teams for math contests and field days. Point Loma students participated in events at Claremont Men's College and Occidental College. On March 14, a Pointer math team attended the annual Math Field Day at San Diego State. The last contest, sponsored by General Dynamics, was held May 6, at Astronautics in San Diego.

Physical fitness programs were practiced in both girls' and boys' PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENTS. Students exercised daily with running and calisthentics. Situps, pushups, high jumps, and broad jumps tested student fitness and athletic ability.

Throughout the year, boys participated in ten major season sports. Outstanding coaching and athletic ability was especially noted in CIF football and cross country track teams. The curriculum for girls' athletics included golf, tennis, badminton, archery, and modern dance. The department also worked with the Lomanettes and the girls' swimming and gymnastics teams.

The SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT at Point Loma provided courses for all levels of students earning the required high school credits in history and government. Classes in World History were offered to sophomores, while U. S. History was studied by juniors. Seniors earned the required government credits in either classes of American Government, American Government in World Affairs, or Political Science 71A–B. Advanced students enrolled in Political Science, a junior college course worth three college units each semester.

Emphasis on American heritage and government aided students in becoming responsible citizens. A field trip to San Diego Municipal and Superior courts was provided for selected students. A city–wide Constitution Exam tested each senior on United States government. The Social Studies Department also supervised student work on Point Loma's Freedom Foundations project.

Five foreign languages, Russian, Spanish, French, German, and Latin, were studied at Point Loma. The LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT aimed to develop fluent language students. The curriculum included reading, writing, conversation, and oral drills in the languages. Question and answer drills in the class rooms and the language lab improved individual speech, and taught conversation patterns, grammar, and vocabulary to students.

The last year of the two–year chem–physics program was completed this year. By combining the two sciences, the SCIENCE DEPARTMENT provided a valuable course for advanced students. The department also offered classes in biology, chemistry, physiology, physics, and honors physics to Point Loma students. The fundamental sciences and lab techniques were taught through lectures and and class experiments. Teachers encouraged further study through work on science projects entered in school and city science fairs.

Music, art, and drama were among the fine arts studied at Point Loma. Popular groups of the MUSIC DEPARTMENT were the marching band and pep band, performers at games and assemblies. The orchestra, band and choral groups also performed for students in various programs. The department's Christmas program featured all musicians, the Brass Choir, and select Point Loma vocalists, the Madrigals. The ART DEPARTMENT held its annual Art Festival, May 1–3, displaying projects of talented students and local artists. Student projects were created in classes of Commercial Art, Drawing and Painting, Crafts, Life Drawing, Color and Design, and the most advanced course, Senior Studio Art.

Point Loma's DRAMA DEPARTMENT provided classes in beginning drama and stagecraft for talented students preparing for major productions. Major Productions presented plays and musical comedies for students and the community.

The beautiful condition of Point Loma's grounds and buildings has been noted by students and the community. The school gardeners have kept the lawns, court yards, and football field trimmed and neat. The custodian staff has maintained the old and new buildings, keeping them clean and comfortably heated and lighted. The services of the gardeners and custodians, together, have given Point Loma students a comfortable and beautiful campus in which to work and study.

A staff of thirteen ladies prepared and served hot, nourishing lunches daily in the Point Loma cafeteria. At noon, students, teachers, and school visitors could buy delicious meals, soups, salads, and desserts. Sandwiches, pies, and cookies were also made and sold to students outside the cafeteria in cold lunch lines.

Saving the staff valuable time, student assistants worked as cashiers, bagged cookies, did dishes, and wrapped sandwiches. The devoted their time to preparing meals that hungry students would enjoy. They began early each morning to bake fresh cakes and pans of cookies, and fix the variety of dishes that appeared on the daily menus.

Ned Chambers led the Sophomore Class

The active sophomore year of the class of 1969 was a year of "firsts." Revising its constitution, the class was the first to establish year long offices. Sophomores also built a Homecoming float, "Bugs Bunny," and named Debbie Seaton the first sophomore Homecoming queen attendant. In November, the sophomores were first to combine a campaign assembly with a potluck dinner. After the successful event, the class elected Ned Chambers president. Assisted by Mr. Clark, the class advisor, Ned and the other officers, Gloria Keller, Kim Hill, Susie Saunders and Katie Lazar, planned a Shamrock Sale in March, and other fund–raising activities.

Officers discuss plans for the Junior Prom.

spring semester

class of 1968

Juniors, active in class and ASB projects, designed Point Loma's official coat–of–arms this year. First semester president, Lindy Mann, and cabinet worked to have it accepted early in the fall by body. Other junior class accom–plishments during the first semes–ter included building a float, "Mic–key Mouse," for Homecoming and ordering unique colegiate class rings. A successful dinner was held January 5, and featured the Nite–lites.

Under spring president Melinda Hussong, the class reordered rings and held a bakesale, was initiated on a coat–of–arms for the Boys' gym. The Junior Prom, held May 19 with the Impalas, climaxed the year for the class of '68.

fall semester

Through the efforts of its officers and advisor, Mr. George Millstone, the class of '67 enjoyed three exciting years at Point Loma. The best year was the senior year with a CIF football team and all the senior privileges. Fall officers, led by president George Lazar, were responsible for the successful Homecoming dance. Roger Wagar and the spring cabinet planned a Senior Week, the Senior Mothers' Tea, Vespers, the Senior Prom at the El Cortez, and finally graduation, June 15, on Ross Field.

George Lazar and Pru Mann were selected by the faculty to represent Point Loma in Sacramento at Boys' and Girls' State. Boys' State was held at the Sacramento State Fair Grounds and Girls' State at the UC at Davis Campus. By participating in the summer conferences, Point Loma's delegates learned the complexities of California government. The delegates helped establish junior states, participated in election campaigns, made laws, and carried on similar to that of state officials.

Well, would you believe school is over? I know it must bother you as much as it bothers me. History was real groovy, especially since we had such an out of sight teacher. It was really a blast! You're a real sweet girl and I hope you have a real groovy summer. Good luck during your senior years.

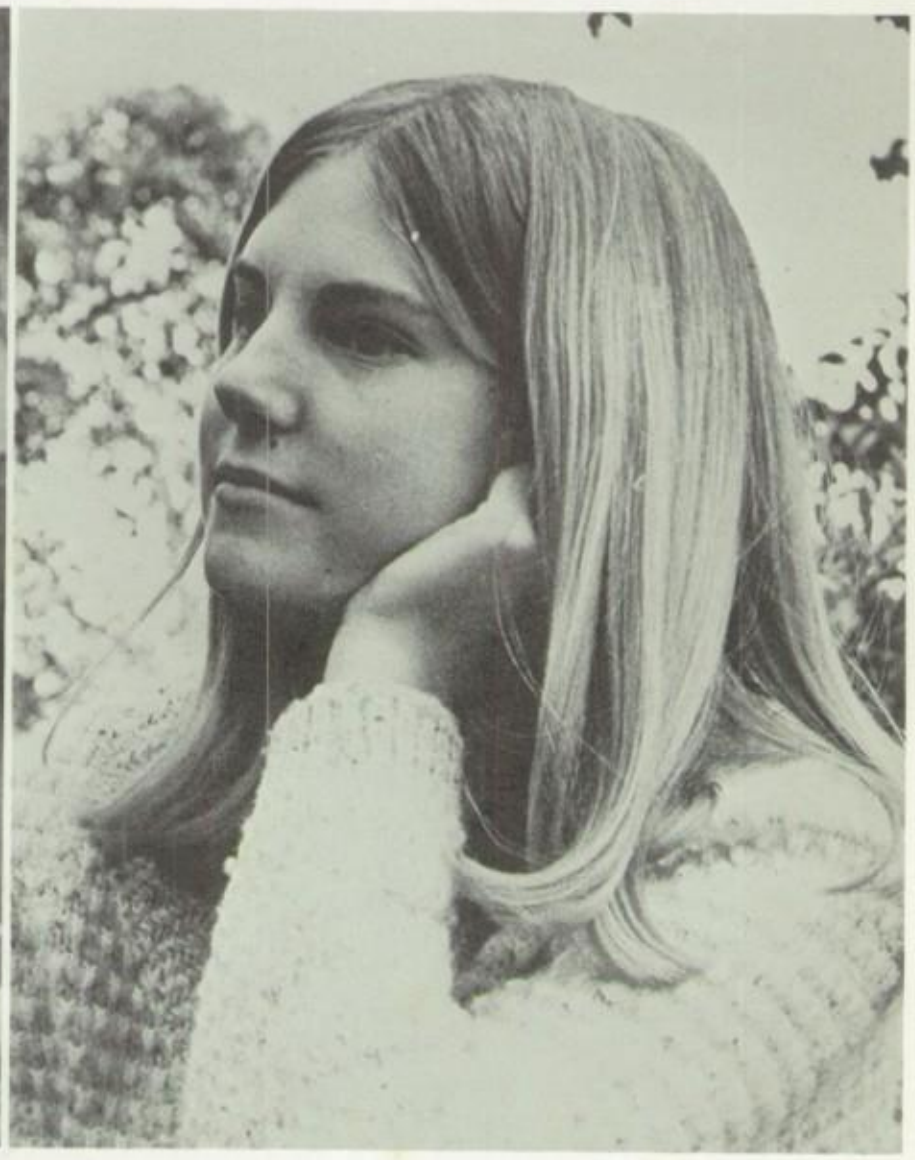
Steve

Marilyn Kelly, John Thompson, and Mary Richardson work throughout the city.

Lorie -

Just think. Last year you didn't even know me, and now you're graced with knowing me!! But, seriously, you're really a groovy kid and I'm glad we've gotten to know each other. Love ya.

ELYTES RULE!! Diane



accept my thoughts for thanks; i have no words.

Kami

Its been fun talking to you in Biology. After changing my seat in here so many times I would think he could find someone I wouldn't talk to. Best wishes next year

Deli

Marie-
I will you ever forget good old Paul Horner. Our Junior year has been a good one I'm sure. I will never be able to forget it. We can look for ward to college together. I still hope to be room
mates. Fun, Fun, Fun!!
Oh well-See ya
through out college

Well ... hORIE,

I decided to address this differently.
Isn't that Great!??!! I really liked having you in Art cuz sometimes it was so boring it wasn't Quiet but it was BORING.
Glad I could help on your 8 x 10 covered wagon?!! poster
And it was fun critisizing the Art Show together. Have fun this summer & look for me at OB. And have a blast next winter at Mamoth, Big Bear, Switzerland ect. And I'll see ya at the 1990 Olympics.

By now
Martha (future Picasso)

HORIE,

just had to remind you of our T.V. Debut.... June 15, 1967. I was glad to be An Ajax girl but then you got to me Babo Birl 67. Remember whenever an Ark truck comes by playing our song show your rag. Take good care of your Ajax hands & "Happy Trails to you"
Martha (also future miss Ajax Universe)

Jamie-

What can I say but I love you so much. I really wish it could be different. I'll never forget you. I'll always remember the good times we had together. I'm glad that you came into my life because of the experience that creating you gave me. I know that I can't undo what I've done but I don't regret it. I'm sorry that I couldn't be the kind of mother you deserved without your help. I hope that you can find it in your heart to forgive me. I hope that you can live a happy life without me around to cause you any more pain. I hope that you can find a good home where you will be loved and cared for like you deserve. I hope that God can help you grow up to be a beautiful person inside and out. I hope that you can find it in your heart to forgive me. I hope that you can live a happy life without me around to cause you any more pain. I hope that you can find a good home where you will be loved and cared for like you deserve. I hope that God can help you grow up to be a beautiful person inside and out.

Love,

Jill '67

Lorie... Well, we just have one more year to go... too bad it isn't the last! I'm really glad that I had you in English this year. You made a lot of the boring times not so boring with all your jokes! I hope you have a really good summer but stay out of trouble! → only kidding! Good luck in whatever you may do. Keep up your good personality cause that's one of the most important things which anyone could ever possess.

Love,
Barbara Ehrich

Lorie
It's really been fun
in History this year.
Your a sweet girl
with a great personality.
Keep it that way. Best of luck in the future.
Have a great Summer.
See you next year.
"68" (Hope)
Love
Cindy Allas

To my art student,
You learn well. Have fun in high school UCLA will be fun but not challenging hope you see your mexican Friend (Ron)
have fun
Bob
English

Lorie

It has truly been an experience standing beside you in gym this year. That's what you get for having a last name that begins with a "D." Hope I see you next year! (Even though you and Jill cheat at badminton.)

NORTHWEST LITHOGRAPHICALLY PRINTED BOUND

Love-XOXO (RESERVED) Flowers Are Good People nnah! (so is Debi)

Well, I hope that this page is reserved for me. If it isn't, well, tough shit. Boy, I think we've done pretty good this school year. We haven't had one single fight. What a record!! After that big fight between you and Vicki, I'm surprised that we did as well as we did. (DOES THAT MAKE SENSE?) There's really not that much to write cuz when it comes to doing stuff together, well, there's not much. I think you & Kathy and me & Vicki have done more together than me and you have. What a Bummer, huh? Oh well, we have our senior year to really rock-out. Just think how Bitchen it will be in gym next year. We'll each have our lockers next to eachother and lunch OUT OF SIGHT! Well, I guess I better stop writing about ~~next~~ next year. Now → about this year....
Remember all of our big long talks about Jim and Bryan and practically any other subject we could think of? Don't ever forgot that fight between you & Vicki. God, I thought you two would never talk to eachother again. It was kinda funny the way you two would look at eachother across the lunch-table; and I was in the middle!! Those letters eachother were a crack-up. Remember Halloween? "And give one to...AH, ER...STONER, STONER...thing, here "SURE!!" And when we thought for sure that it was Vicki & Robert in that car at S. Cliffs? I wonder what they thought. All those water balloons were wasted on some ~~body~~ body we didn't know or cared-less about. Shee-it!! Always keep in your mind the good 'ol memory of that exciting day of Horse-back-riding. How embarrassing I always do that. "Give me A different horse!" what a joke. But I think the best memory of all is the night we got "soused" at my house. "DON'T DIE!" "I'm Drunker than a Skunk!" That was so damn funny! and we got trippin' out in the middle of the street. I swear, I just hope that nobody saw us. Wouldn't it have been horrible if they did! Shit-a-bricks! And then I have to go and get sick the next day. Those darn pills. I blew it. I wish that I didn't take 'em! The next day was so horrible! "WHERE'S DEBI?" "Oh, She's in the BATHROOM AGAIN!" "BLEAH!" SAYS DEBI... What a night that was. Remember all those neato keeno concourse dances? "Where's DA-VID?"... "where's Steve?" → "where's Bob?" → "where's Jim?" → where's Bryan?"

Sorie,
Well another year down the tubes! And next year we're top dogs. SENIORS!
wouldn't you say, about time?! It's really been great it. Flights, and everything else over done together. Lots of luck forever.
Not too much trouble this summer - okay?
Love,
Linda

Have fun this summer
this summer & see you Maybe & see you playing Badmitton (ete quite a joke) powell soo you next year anyway
Steve

"WHERE'S JOHN?" "..AHEE! AHEE! AHEE!" Good. Running all around looking for everybody. And then when I tried to teach you and Kathy how to dance? That was REALLY a waste!
Don't forget WOOP-PEE-OO and Psychedelic .....Oh yeah
That night at the Palace is one night to remember...
That incense was so Bitchen, I swear, I don't think I could ever forget the looks on that ~~face~~ dude - "It's gotta be CORK, it's gotta be CORK!" Yea, keep thinkin' that. It was so Bitchen psyching everybody out that night. Remember when that guy was looking in my eyes to see if they were dialated? "YEAH MAN, I'm a hippy!..." AND! The best part of the whole night was when we put down Steve Hog! That really made the whole night worthwhile. "Children wink psyched him when I said "WOOP-PEE-OO!" It was so Bitchen cuz you kept walking away, you kept leaving God's gift to women! (oh heart-throb!) WELL, even though this year hasn't done a lot of things, the things that we did do were sure worth it! I just hope that our friendship lasts a long time cuz I think everybody should have a friend like you. Sounds mushy but it's true. Thanks for everything and when you take me places (like to doctors for butterfly bandages!) just stay Bitchen - LUV YA - BOBBI

Remember THAT?

Lori ❤

I've had a great time this year with you this I had fun Dissecting the Frog too Hope to see you during the summer and Next year. Good luck

Steve
